GROH VIP EVENT: THE SCIENCE BEHIND HAIR LOSS PREVENTION

Are mushrooms the key to preventing hair loss? Research from Marvin S. Hausman, MD, shows that the potent anti-oxidant Ergothioneine and Vitamin D2, unique substances produced by mushrooms, push the body toward a more balanced state. Together, they nourish cells—especially stem cells—and boost the immune defense system to reawaken dormant cells in hair, scalp, skin, nails, lashes and eyebrows, feeding the hair to help it grow and stopping hair loss. Dr. Hausman will share his research, insights, clinical applications and predictions of new therapies that will provide solutions for women and men who desire a healthier body inside and out.
